

HOW TO Lead Yourself and Your Teams Through Crises, Challenges, and Changes

Commander Mary Kelly's keynote "How to Lead Yourself and Your Teams Through Crises, Challenges, and Changes," delves into the six stages of any tough situation, whether it is a leadership shift, a geographical change, or a product development challenge. Mary then introduces her P.I.V.O.T. strategy (Purpose, Inspire, Volatility, Opportunities, Tools) attendees can use immediately to become even more effective leaders.

Drawing from her extensive military experience, she offers insights into enhancing personal resilience, emotional intelligence, and strategies for leading individuals and teams with clarity and adaptability in challenging situations.

Specifically, attendees will:

- Explore the six distinct stages that define reactions to a crisis, challenge, or change.
- Understand Mary's P.I.V.O.T. method as an effective response to crises.
 - P: Purpose - Establishing a clear sense of direction and objectives.
 - I: Inspire - Motivating oneself and the team to rise above challenges.
 - V: Volatility - Understanding and navigating through unpredictable conditions.
 - O: Opportunities - Identifying and seizing growth possibilities in adversity.
 - T: Tools, Training, and Tactics - Equipping oneself and the team with necessary skills and strategies.
- Maintain focus, perspective, and emotional intelligence during difficult situations.
- Build team resilience and adaptability.
- Elevate strategic communication and planning to increase team productivity and individual leadership effectiveness.

For leaders looking to hone their crisis management skills and inspire their teams to thrive through adversity - ideal for corporate leaders, managers, HR professionals, team leaders, and anyone facing challenging environments.

MARY KELLY
US Navy (Retired)

Commander Mary Kelly, US Navy (Retired), is an acclaimed leadership expert, economics professor, and motivational speaker. With her rich experience in leading through challenging times in the military, Mary is a sought-after keynote speaker and consultant, celebrated for her dynamic, practical, and insightful approaches to leadership.

BOOK MARY TODAY

719-357-7360
Mary@ProductiveLeaders.com
www.ProductiveLeaders.com