What can I do to support my customers?

How can I work cooperatively with my competition?

Where can I improve my process?

What do we need to do differently moving forward?

How will this change my leadership?

How will this change my organization's strategic planning?

This is my new reality.

Thousand of details will change.

REALITY

Bringing people together is going to be difficult.

REALIGNMENT

How can I equip my team to manage change?

Where do we need to allocate resources?

What do we need to create or develop?

How can we respond fast to what our market need?

How do we stay focused and relevant?

What are we doing now to position ourselves for the future?
